

Source : The New Indian Express

Date : 17.06.2007

"India needs a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth"

Convert crisis into opportunity: PM

New Delhi, June 16

Prime Minister Manmohan Singh today said that India should work together to reform the institutions of global governance, including G-20, to bring them in tune with the present and emerging economic realities.

He said the economic crisis had been made for the last 100 years, and it is time to take a fresh look at the global institutions. He said the world is in a state of flux and the institutions of global governance need to be reformed to meet the challenges of the 21st century.

The G-20 members should work together to reform the institutions of global governance, including G-20, to bring them in tune with the present and emerging economic realities. He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth. He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth. He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth.

He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth. He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth. He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth. He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth.

He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth. He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth. He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth. He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth.

He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth. He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth. He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth. He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth.

He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth. He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth. He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth. He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth.

He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth. He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth. He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth. He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth.

He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth. He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth. He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth. He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth.

He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth. He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth. He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth. He said India is seeking a conducive external environment for sustained high economic growth.