

The Hindu 29.04.2010

“Provide quality education to the poor”

Staff Reporter

MADURAI: An educational framework emphasising the immediate need to provide quality education to the poor children, youth of rural areas and the deprived sections of the urban was the focus during a seminar held at Gandhi Museum here by Student's Democratic Movement recently.

Attended by teachers, university professors, students and parents, the seminar covered the important aspects of Right to Education Bill, National Council for Higher Education and Research and Foreign Universities Bill.

P.Renga Ramanujam, Director, STRIDE Indira Gandhi National Open University, said people, who talk of introducing Tamil at all levels of teaching, should practically do something for the development of Tamil such that it could be used for teaching all disciplines.