Source : The Hindu Date : 08.06.2009

SHGs invited to display products at exhibitions

Special Correspondent

VELLORE: The Tamil Nadu Women's Development Corporation has requested women self-help groups (SHGs) in Vellore district to display their products at the exhibition to be held in connection with the summer festival in Yelagiri Hills from June 13 to 19, the Chitrai Exhibition in Madurai, exhibitions held in connection with Thaipoosam in Palni and Dindigul, Nagoor Thandhari exbition, the exhibition conducted during festivals in Velanganni in Nagapattinam district, and the exhibitions being held in different parts of Tamil Nadu on different occasions .

In a release, Vellore Collector C. Rajendran said that a committee has been constituted under his presidentship as per the guidance of the State government to select the SHGs eligible for participating in the exhibitions.

He has asked interested SHGs to approach the Project Implementation Unit (PIU) of the Tamil Nadu Women's Development Corporation, Gandhinagar, Vellore, with details of products made by them, method of production, quality and price of products and other related information.

More details could be had by contacting the PIU at Gandhinagar, Vellore (0416-2241765).